

REFUSES PLEA TO REPORT U. S. CHEMIST

Although employed as a technical expert by the War Department, another branch of the government sought deportation of Prof. Michael Grattan, chemist, graduate of Harvard, it was disclosed today.

In Federal Court, however, Judge James M. Morton denied a deportation petition by the Department of Labor and characterized the attempt as "one of extraordinary facility."

DENIES PLEA
The judge denied the government claim that Prof. Grattan was guilty of fraud in obtaining his citizenship papers, and commented: "Why anybody should desire to exclude such a man from citizenship in this country passes understanding."

According to the Dept. of Labor claim Prof. Grattan after establishing a domicile here in 1921, took out citizenship papers and then went to London to agent for a Boston firm to whom he had sold a shipment of Russian merchandise.

RETURNS TO BOSTON
He remained in London until 1923 when he returned to Boston. The government claimed he had established a domicile in England and that he had no intention of leaving here when he took out his papers.

Since his return he has been government laboratory research expert in metallurgy at the Western Arsenal.

Prof. Grattan first came to America in 1913, being sent to Harvard by the United States government to study mining metallurgy and American educational methods. He returned to Russia in 1916 and after the collapse of the Czarist regime joined the anti-Bolshevik forces under Gen. Denikin. He has not been in Russia since 1918.

Grattan is today a very popular character in the city, but they make a lot of all-around Russia.

Leob Jail Errand Boy on His 24th Birthday
John H. June 11 (AP)—His last errand running within John Ferrell's walls was the last of Richard A. Leob, notorious burglar, today on the 24th anniversary of his birth. It was just another day, with no deviations from routine to vary the monotony of his life.

Leob is today a very popular character in the city, but they make a lot of all-around Russia.

CUPID BUSY IN DORCHESTER MARKET

Romance may not be on the shelves at the Uphams Corner Market in Dorchester, the world's largest such establishment, but it must be in the air there.

The fourth romance has come to light with the marriage of Miss Lina M. Luchini, 21, of Roxbury, assistant bookkeeper, and John Ferrell of Dorchester, whose two sisters have been brides in two of the previous romances.

Miss Luchini and Ferrell, who also is employed in the store, were married at St. Patrick's Church, Roxbury, with the Rev. William Casey celebrating the nuptial mass and performing the ceremony.

They were two years ago at a party given by Mrs. Florence Tortorella, the head bookkeeper, from which party Ferrell accompanied the girl home.

Mrs. Ferrell is a graduate of Girls' high school and attended the Boston Gym for two years. The bridegroom is a graduate of a seminary in Italy and served during the war with the regiment of the Royal Prince.

His sister is the wife of Paul Ciferno, who with John Ciferno, owns the market, and his other sister is the wife of Peter DeLace, assistant manager of the Manhattan branch.

The couple went on a wedding trip to Canada.

Stratford - on - Avon Considers Boston Man's Invitation

William A. Ryan, Dorchester lampighter, who has waged a single-handed fight to invite the Stratford-on-Avon Herald of that Shakespearean city in England. The paper has a long article discussing Mr. Ryan and concluding: "The question before Stratford is whether we shall wean, and who will go for us?" Ryan is standing a campaign to have one or two high school boys or girls sent over to Stratford to carry the greetings of Boston, unofficially, to the officials of Stratford.

CHARGE FATHER OF DEAD BABY WITH MURDER

Nashua, N. H., June 11—Police today brought a charge of murder in the first degree against Edward Clark, 22, of Worcester, Mass., for the alleged slaying of his eight-day-old son.

Mrs. Rachel Ellen Clark, mother of the child, was charged with being an accessory to the crime and has been placed under police guard in the local hospital.

Clark, who was arrested after he had led police to a field where he had buried the body of the infant, will be arraigned in court tomorrow, when a continuance of the case will be asked until the mother is able to appear.

It had been planned to arraign Clark today, but the authorities decided to await the official report of the medical examiner, who has already submitted an oral report of the autopsy. The autopsy disclosed that the infant had died from a violent blow on the head from a wooden stick.

Clark and his wife were married here June 2, just before the child was born. A nurse who attended the mother became suspicious when she found the child had disappeared and she informed the police.

SUIT AGAINST LILLIAN GISH

Los Angeles, Cal., June 11 (AP)—The suit of Charles H. Duell, New York theatrical manager, against Lillian Gish, screen star, for $20,000 was to open in superior court today.

Duell's suit alleged that he advanced Miss Gish money for an European trip while he was her manager, and that shortly thereafter he became ill and remained so for several months.

Miss Gish's attorney informed the court that his client had already spent $2000 in coming to Los Angeles from New York in preparation of the suit, and her interests would be greatly prejudiced unless the case was heard at once.

WOMAN WINS
FORTUNE BY DIVORCE

Philadelphia, Pa., June 11 (INS)—Miss Celia A. Patterson, Mercantile N. J. society woman, has just won a divorce and a fortune of $233,333.

As the result of a divorce granted by the circuit court of common pleas from Ralph Patterson, Mrs. Patterson, 33, became heir to the estate of her father, the late Albert W. Patterson, a former talking machine company official.

In his will, filed March 18, the late Patterson's strange bequest gave Mrs. Patterson a one-third share in the $1,000,000 estate under the conditions:

For her personal use, free from control or interference from her husband, she should divorce her husband, or should she die, the sum should become hers absolutely.

In obtaining her divorce yesterday, Mrs. Patterson not only gained her inheritance, but fulfilled her father's death-bed request.

She and her husband had been estranged for about eight years.

FATHER SAVES
SON, MAY DIE

Pushing his own life for that of his two-year-old son, Andrew Farrel, 127 Falcon st., East Boston, suffered injuries today that may prove fatal.

The father was hit by a driver's motor truck as he tossed his boy into the middle of the street, out of the path of the machine.

The truck, owned by a towel supply concern, had been parked on Fulton st., while the driver, Richard W. Chick of Columbus

St., South End, made a delivery.

For some unexplained reason the truck left the curb and tore down East Eagle to West Eagle and then into Falcon st.

Father and child were outside their home when the father saw the danger, picked up the boy and threw him into the street, but too late to save himself. The man was injured against a building.

At East Boston relief hospital he was placed on the danger list, having concussion of the brain. The boy also is there, injured when tossed into the street by his father.

A special meeting of the association has been called for Thursday evening in Wells Memorial building, when final reports will be made and the strike order rescinded.

The New Way of Preparing Delicious Summer Meals

Not so very many years ago the woman who did the marketing and cooking for her family did not look forward to summertime with a great deal of pleasure.

She knew that appetites on hot days were temperamental, and that particular effort was needed to make her meals especially appetizing. And yet on such days she herself was scarcely in the mood for preparing culinary masterpieces.

But today, in this as well as so many other things, "times have changed." The wise housewife knows how to save steps, time and hard work—and at the same time prepare meals that are a treat. How? She has simply put the country's best chefs and cooks to work for her.

For example, a certain fashionable hotel is famous for its chicken à la king, and very rightly so. Until recent years the only way to enjoy this dish was to visit this particular hotel. Today this delicacy is put up in tins and can be served at home. And so much of it is packed and sold that the price is extremely reasonable.

A delicious whole cooked chicken is now obtainable in a tin. Fresh killed chicken, right from the farm, is used. Expensive? Quite the contrary.

When canned "baked" beans were steam-cooked there was probably good reason for baking them at home. But now certain brands are slowly baked in brick ovens and have the real old-fashioned flavor.

Think of roasting a ham for eight hours to make it deliciously tender and sweet! Yet that is the way Red Label Roast Hams are prepared.

Many people are very fond of lobster salad. Does that mean that it is necessary to buy and cook a lobster? Oh, no. The well-informed woman buys lobster meat in a jar, already cooked—choice meat, of course, and of absolutely reliable quality. And if she wishes a lobster à la Newburg, she can have it in tins as prepared by expert chefs.

S. S. Pierce's list of delicious cooked foods is large, and the prices are surprisingly moderate. To mention a few, there are chicken à la creole, chicken salad, boned chicken, whole roast squab, corned beef hash, chile con carne, cooked ham (whole or sliced), tender ox tongue, lunch tongue, calves tongue and spiced lamb's tongues.

For people who like sea foods (and who doesn't enjoy fish that has real flavor?) there are such treats as large pink shrimp, tender salmon steak, Mediterranean and Pacific tuna, small mackerel in ravigote or wine sauce or olive oil, imported kippered fish and sardines of all kinds.

Where can these foods be obtained? The S. S. Pierce stores have them all. Walk through one of their stores when you next pass by, and see the articles on display. Their salespeople are exceptionally courteous and will be glad to show the articles. S. S. Pierce telephone order and delivery service is talked about everywhere, and thousands of women are using it to simplify the task of obtaining their groceries and summer supplies.

The S. S. Pierce Co. will send a copy of their price list to anybody on request. They also have a one-page list that is particularly helpful right now. It is called "Supplies for the Summer Home." Be sure to ask for it.

When it's ninety-odd in the shade—be nonchalant
with Mello-glo

You can afford to be, for Mello-glo STAYS ON. You can be sure there's no shiny nose or forehead to betray the fact that you're not as cool as a cucumber. A smart French woman said powder was "society"—a background for the skin. She probably referred to French powders, made the French way.

That is the way Mello-glo is made—that is the reason it is so different from ordinary powders. It is sifted—and sifted—and sifted over and over again till there is not a particle of "grit"—which, though you cannot detect it, is in less carefully compounded powders and tends to clog the skin—enlarge the pores. This French process makes Mello-glo so fine it fairly hugs the skin and gives the cool lustre and something of the fine grain, of ivory—that's why it is such a good hot weather powder. One sluff for all skins—or SUSTAIN if you follow the mode, $1 in the stunning gold colored box.

"Why can't we have coffee like this at home?"

"I've heard a thousand people ask that same question"

... "Like many of the finest hotels in the country you serve only La Touraine Coffee. It has a flavor and aroma all its own."

EVERY head waiter has heard thousands of men say, "I wish my wife could make coffee like that."

Of course, the answer is they can... if they buy the same kind of coffee.

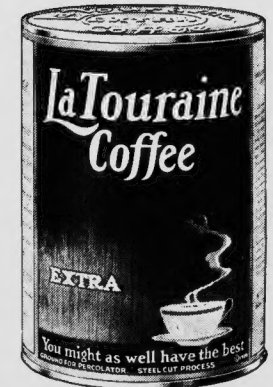

La Touraine has been selected to be served exclusively by more famous hotels and restaurants than any other brand. But, as the head waiter will tell you, it is the same La Touraine Coffee that you can buy in convenient home-size cans at almost any good store.

La Touraine Coffee is always fresh and full-flavored. Its distinctive and appealing taste is the result of exquisitely balanced blending.

Take home a can of La Touraine the next time you go marketing. It will add a new zest to your breakfast... a new sparkle to your evening meal.

An increase in sales of over 35% in the first four months of 1929 shows how fast La Touraine Coffee is growing in popularity.

FIND SKELETON WAS BURIED 40 YEARS

Ipswich, June 11.—Examination of the skeleton unearthed from a hill grave at Great Neck by Medical Examiner Bailey today disclosed that it had probably been buried there 40 or 45 years ago.

The medical examiner stated that as yet he was unable to determine whether the skeleton was of a male or female person. He said that the skull was in perfect condition and offered no evidence that the unknown dead had been a victim of foul play.

Police Chief Blauvelt, who is conducting a search in the vicinity of the lonely spot for possible clues, expressed the opinion that the skeleton was probably that of some seafaring man who had died at sea and had been brought in to shore for burial. History of the district disclosed that this was a usual custom. Chief Blauvelt said.

The skeleton was found by Thomas Smith, an employee of the town of Ipswich. Smith was taking sand from the side of a Great Neck hill, four miles from the village. The hill overlooks Plum Island river.

As he shoveled the soil from his cutting, preliminary to loading it into his truck, he started a small landslide. The loose sand and gravel, showering down upon him, left him a large depression under some clumps of grass and weeds. Looking closer, Smith saw white bones.

Startled, he made a gingerly survey of his find, then hastened away to notify the authorities. "The spot where he found the grave was only 50 yards away from the highway," a spokesman said.

Helen Byron, was the nearest building.

FIANCE DIES IN GIRL'S ARMS

Fitchburg, June 11 (INS).—A frantic girl, who proved to be Miss Winifred Lamouche, 17, of Leominster, hailed a passing motorist on the lonely Ashby road today and pointed to the body of her sweetheart, Raymond De Tello, 22, slumped in an auto at the side of the road.

"He died in my arms," she sobbed.

Medical authorities and police found that the death of De Tello was from natural causes, that he had been in ill health for some time.

The couple had been riding when De Tello was stricken and stopped the car. Miss Lamouche said she was alone with the body for half an hour before help came.

Refer Kellogg Pact to Japanese Council

Tokyo, June 11 (AP).—The Kellogg anti-war treaty, for which the Premier requested imperial sanction, has been referred to the privy council for deliberation and study. It was still a moot point today whether the council would agree to an addendum regarding the phrase "in the name of the people." The conservative Japanese contend this conflicts with prerogatives of the Emperor under the constitution.

NEW TARIFF TO HIT HOMES—BLOCK IT!

It's the shoemakers' children who go barefooted.

And the dairymen's children often drink the stammer milk.

Today legislators are proposing that those who have nothing should pay the national taxes.

Housewives, wage earners and farmers are to be saddled with a $600,000,000 to $700,000,000 tax on the necessities of life under the new tariff bill, which needs only the Senate vote to make it a law.

Sugar, shoes and butter—no better means of teaching down to the thin pocketbook where a luxury tax has no significance!

It is undeniably true that the poorest judges of a majority of American homes are in the hands of women. They are chiefly charged with the responsibility of thrift.

For that reason it is proposed that the housewives of the nation undertake the defeat of the tariff bill. They will not get financially. Economists are supplying plenty of sound argument to show the futility and the injury of the bill before Congress.

HOUSEWIVES! CUT OUT THIS COUPON—MAIL IT TO YOUR SENATORS!

TO SENATOR

(Name of your Senator)

AS one of the citizens of the state represented by you in Congress, I desire, herewith, to register my protest against the tariff bill recently passed by the House of Representatives. It will increase the cost of living, work great hardship in the majority of our homes, tend to create industrial and economic unrest and threatens national prosperity and welfare.

MILLION LOSS IN OIL BLAZE

Los Angeles, Cal., June 11 (AP)—Oil derricks and more than $3,000 barrels of oil had been destroyed today by a fire which broke out late yesterday in the Stationery Springs field, 12 miles south of this city. Damage was estimated at more than $100,000.

Asbestos clad firemen worked throughout the night, aided by hundreds of volunteers, in an effort to bring the fire under control.

The fire started on the Rhode McAdams lease and was believed to have been caused by oil leaking from a storage tank to a well. The fire soon leaped to the 25-acre well. Both wells had been producing approximately 400 barrels of oil daily. From the McAdams well the flames spread to other derricks.

IRISH FAIR FOLK STAGE BENEFIT

The 270 performers at the recent "Irish Fair" at the Boston Garden, who complained to the police that the manager of the show had departed from the city without paying them for services, will present another program at the Garden Thursday evening in the hopes of raising sufficient money to pay themselves.

The performers, with M. J. Twomey as their chairman and spokesman, have secured the Boston Garden free of charge through Sheldon Fairbanks, manager, and a three-hour program of entertainment will be presented.

Chicago Planning Largest Airport

Chicago, June 11 (AP)—A mile-square airport, the largest in the country, is planned for Chicago by the Aviation Corporation of America. It became known today.

Negotiations have been practical by closed, it was said, for acquisition of a field adjoining Harvey southwest of the city. The project may cost $2,000,000.

"Al" Smith Dictates 5000 Words Daily

New York, June 11 (AP)—Alfred E. Smith is dictating 5,000 words and up to 10 daily of "Up to Now," a title for his book in preparation to such proposals as "Up to Now" at the Record and "The Name Is Smith." Some of the papers say he will receive $1 a word, or $100,000.

Tariff to Hit Family Purse $600,000,000

By CORDELL BULL

Representative in Congress from Tennessee

Washington, June 11—The increase of rates under the pending tariff revision will cost the American people at least $600,000,000 to $800,000,000 in increased prices.

Near 90 per cent of agriculture, more than 75 per cent of labor, more than 50 per cent of manufacturing production itself, and the great consuming public of the country are unquestionably victims rather than beneficiaries of the proposed extreme high tariff revision.

Unless the general public heaves itself and insists that senators and congressmen resolutely resist the proposed raid of immediate tariff and goods, they soon will experience a rude awakening.

The country is witnessing the spectacle of what hypocritically pretends to be honest, equitable tariff revision, conducted, however, by the chief tariff beneficiaries and those in Congress who do their will.

The two outstanding features of this so-called revision are its inequalities and its general upward nature.

The sham and pretense of this sort of "revision" are concealed behind the wholly false slogan of "farm relief," and yet agriculture as a whole will not only derive no net benefits, but enormous injuries under this proposal.

The producers of corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, cotton, hay and tobacco on the farm, aggregating $6,548,000,000 from the cultivation of 334,000,000 of a total of 360,000,000 acres planted to all crops, gets not a whiff of net tariff benefits.

Substantial surpluses arise in each instance which prevent the effectiveness of tariffs.

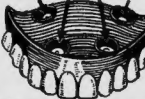

In striking contrast we find enormous surpluses especially on all finished manufactures, where they did not already exist, with the view to prohibiting not only direct foreign competition, but that which is indirect and remote as well.

Window glass has been raised to near 100 per cent; plate glass increased 25 per cent, instead of being reduced 5 per cent, according to the facts as to competitive conditions.

Cordage, cable, rope, etc., in the flax, hemp and jute schedule, has been increased 200 to 400 per cent; cloth and numerous other articles of common use in the cotton schedule have received either high or substantial increases, although the present schedule is prohibitive as to most competitive products.

The rate on woolen cloth has been jacked up to as high as 115 per cent.

JESSE GILFORD TRIES TO QUALIFY BUT FAILS TO QUALIFY

By BILL GRIMES

Of the 26 Massachusetts amateurs eligible to participate in the qualifying round for the United States open championship, all but two were conspicuous by their absence. Jesse Gilford and Carl Nott, that played at Worcester yesterday, but they both failed to qualify.

Of course, Francis Oulmer cannot be entered for not playing, and, as Phillips Finley and Eddie Murphy of Harvard, and the Hersey brothers, Earl and Will, of Princeton, will represent their respective universities in the coming intercollegiate, which championship conflicts with the U. S. open, they have legitimate excuses.

But what is the only one of the other 19 eligibles, aside from that stereotyped "business" excuse?

Any player who is not in the four or under rating in the state should be capable of doing a creditable amount of golf.

If any of the four or under players were of the opinion that they could give a professional a run for his money, they would have been heard from long ago.

For years Boston had a amateur threat in every United States open championship. Francis Oulmer and Jesse Gilford were back again on dangerous courses, but when the event came for John Farrell's title, he was a hole-in-one at Winged Foot, Mass. who would be without an amateur in the open and there will be but one Boston professional in the field, John Connolly of the Charles River Country Club.

With the exception of Phil Whitehouse of Worcester and Dave Whitehouse of New Bedford, four and under players in the Greater Boston district are in the United States open.

GILFORD failed but he is qualified to try for a medal in the United States open.

He played the old game, some of the best in the open, but he was not successful in the final round.

NEW AMBASSADOR TO BRITAIN TAKES UP DUTIES ABROAD

INTERESTING telephone from London, showing how Charles Dawes, ambassador to the Court of St. James, must practice bowing to the King and Queen. Frequent regulations call for black satin bicycle pants, it becomes necessary to take due precautions against a sudden slip in Anglo-American relations.

Struck by lightning while conducting a prayer meeting, a Newburgh, N. Y., Baptist minister will recover.

This will probably turn the minister into a recluse and H. L. Menckens to religion.

All of which suggests that there is something ironic in a church equipped with lightning rods.

Chicago, June 11 (AP)—Pete Gavuzzi of England again was in the lead in elapsed time in the 1929 New York-Los Angeles race at the start of today's 50-mile run to Calexico, Cal.

Johnny Sain, Pascual N. J., who had been in first place for several days, suffered another attack of fatigue yesterday and finished the 44-mile lap from Weston in seventh place, Gavuzzi in fourth.

The lead by Gavuzzi was not surprising, as he had been in first place for several days.

Useful Hints on these Pages

NO woman can afford to miss these magazine pages. Here you will find household information of great value, a wonderful article by an eminent physician, important advice on matters of etiquette by a woman who knows, and fashion hints fresh from Paris, showing handsome gowns.

How to Acquire 'Pep'

ARE you taking your spring tonic—the tonic that modern doctors order for everyone? Plenty of vegetables, fruit, milk and eggs prepared in appetizing and attractive dishes? These are as well as building food, since they provide fuel for energy, tissue repairing material and other elements needed to maintain bodily health. Flare up your summer innovations with some course, try diffusing chilled, canned, concentrated soups with equal parts of ice water, serving it in clear glass soup dishes if possible, and topping it with a dab of whipped cream. It is a delicious change from cool weather warm tomato bouillabaisse. Or add 1 level tsp. of gelatin dissolved in a little hot water to the diluted tomato bouillabaisse, season highly adding a few cooked vegetables if you wish, turn into bouillon cups and just before serving beat slightly with a fork.

Beef bouillon can be prepared in the same way using 4 cups of well seasoned soup stock, 2 level tps. of gelatin, 2 cups of lemon juice, 3 cups of water, the rind of 1 lemon, the juice of half lemon and 1 egg white. Beat gelatin in a hot cup of cold milk about 5 minutes. Heat the remaining stock and add the lemon juice and rind, and when dissolved, add the egg white and the cooked vegetables. Stir constantly for 20 to 30 minutes. Cool and strain through double cloth. Add a few peas or corn, or a little minced green pepper and onion, the bouillon cups.

Chow mein makes an ideal Sunday dessert and is quickly made by adding to the beaten yolk of three eggs 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. paprika and 1 c. of hot cream if you wish chicken orzo. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until the mixture thickens.

Then add 1 level tsp. of gelatin dissolved in a quart of cold water for five minutes. Add to the hot mixture, and when dissolved, strain and add 2 1/2 c. of cold diced chicken meat and 1 1/2 c. of shredded nuts (almonds, preferably). Season highly with 1/2 tsp. salt and a dash of cayenne. Set the bowl containing the mixture in a larger bowl of ice and stir until the mixture begins to thicken. Turn into one cup of heavy cream.

Turn into a hot mold and chill. Remove to a platter, garnish the top with fancy cut slices of lemon and sprigs of parsley and decorate the base of the mold with cubes of jelly or tomato slices.

A delicious mixture for summer sandwiches is one that will hold its shape better than the runny variety. This is made by dissolving two level teaspoons of gelatin in a quart of cold water for five minutes and then dissolving it in one-half cup of boiling water. Add a quarter cup of vinegar or lemon juice and a quarter teaspoon of salt and set aside to cool.

When beginning to set (it will be quicker if placed in a cold water cracked ice) fold in 3 1/2 c. of whipped cream, add either 1/2 c. of cut stuffed olives or 1/2 c. of chopped celery and 1/4 c. of chopped green pepper or 1/4 c. of green peas.

TWO-LAYER SALAD
Part 1
1 pint canned tomato juice.
4 tps. granulated gelatin.
3 cups cold water.
1 cupful cold peas.
1 tsp. salt.
1 tsp. pepper.

Part 2
1 pint bouillon or clear soup stock.
4 tps. granulated gelatin.
2 hard-cooked eggs.
3 cups cold water.
Lettuce.

Mayonnaise.
For the first layer heat the tomatoes, unstrained, but from which all the largest pieces have been removed, add the zests and aromatics, and pour into a bowl containing the gelatin, which has been soaking in cold water. Pour the cold water, a layercake tin, rinsed with cold water, and then add the peas, which should be as dry as possible. Chill. Either fresh or canned peas may be used.

For the second layer the hot bouillon to the gelatin soaked in the cold water. Wet with cold water a layercake tin, rinsed with cold water, and then add the peas, which should be as dry as possible. Chill. Either fresh or canned peas may be used.

Faithfully yours,
MARIE LEE.

The Smartest Coat—Of Tan! --

DRAWN BY Dorothy Flack

THE smartest coat which a girl can wear this season is the summer coat of tan! It's universally becoming. Blonde and titian and brunette alike succumb to its charms and wear it proudly. It is the one fashion that no one seems to mind seeing on everyone else. For it's the badge of health and wholesomeness and happiness. Everywhere you go—on the city streets, on the beaches, beside the mountain brook, or along the country lanes, you will see this charming tan. And when it's worn by one whose eyes sparkle and whose every movement suggests the joy of life and happiness how can you help but feel that it's the most becoming thing in the world.

True, some girls feel that it wouldn't become their special type, but that's all foolishness. Remember the old pictures of bathing beauties when they were young? They were all tan. And that's not the way that Old Sol couldn't get a peak at them? But that's not the way of Miss Modern Summer Girl! Oh no! She recognizes the beauty and naturalness of Old Sol's kisses, so she welcomes this strange tan coat and revels in its becomingness.

Here to the Summer Coat of Tan—and all those who wear it so healthfully and beautifully! For Love will surely find them and claim them, for Love ever wants happiness and brightness and lightness of heart.

Girl With Taking Ways -- Beatrice Fairfax

WHAT is a girl to do when her friend steals her sweetest? This is the substance of many questions asked me through this column.

"Dear Miss Fairfax," writes Mabel. "I do hope you will pardon my boldness for writing to you since I do not know you. I am a girl of nineteen and have been keeping company with a boy of twenty-five."

"Upon my second visit to the home of my brother, with whom I am now living, I met this boy. He was perfectly adorable the first nine months and would have done anything in the world for me. One week my sister came to visit and my mother-in-law suggested that I should not go out unless I got her a date. As there are only two boys of our age in this columb, I was quite fortunate in getting the other boy to take my sister out. While my sister was visiting with me my sister-in-law's niece came to visit her.

"The day she arrived I had a date with my boy friend and asked whether he would object to her going alone. He turned to me and asked, 'Since when do you need a chaperone?'

"I said nothing, so he turned and invited her to go with us. My boy friend did not seem enthused over my coming, but he did come to see me that evening. He did not ask me to go out with him, but did ask her. I did not let on that I cared. Several times when he would ask her to go out she would ask me to go along and I would refuse, then he would get dreadfully angry."

Two weeks ago she left. He seems very unhappy and has not written me for a date. She hasn't asked him and I know she has a sweetheart where she lives. Please if you can, help me to win him back, for I am in love with him. I have told some day I may be of service to you."

Do you really wish to take your friend back again, Mabel, even though he did desert you for the sake of another girl?

When he realizes that the other girl is not going to write and has a sweetheart, he may turn to you for sympathy. Then if you are very sweet and sympathetic and do not tell him with the past or remind him of it in any way, his chances are you and he may soon be going about together once more.

Two weeks ago she left. He seems very unhappy and has not written me for a date. She hasn't asked him and I know she has a sweetheart where she lives. Please if you can, help me to win him back, for I am in love with him. I have told some day I may be of service to you."

9 out of 10 screen stars keep their skin lovely this way...

"THERE'S amazing allure in beautiful smooth skin," declares Carl Laemmle, Jr., director for Universal—and sums up what 39 foremost Hollywood directors have found from their experience with the movies.

"Lovely skin is the charm every star must have." Laemmle goes on to say, "Make-up is no help in the close-up. The skin must be exquisite."

Because smooth flawless skin is absolutely necessary for success in motion pictures, 442 of the 451 important Hollywood actresses, including all stars, are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. And all the great film studios have made it the official skin in their dressing rooms.

Especially for the close-up, when the huge new incandescent "sun-spot" lights pour their terrific brilliance down on a star, the screen actress's skin must be smooth as satin.

Nine out of ten screen stars use Lux Toilet Soap—they have found that this daintily fragrant white soap keeps their skin at its loveliest—as smooth as a flower petal.

Watch Your N. E. Antiques For Possible Fraud

The craze for New England antiques grows more intense with increasing scarcity of authentic pieces.

Never has there been such a frantic demand for colonial clothes presses, Governor Winthrop desks, Sandwich glassware and similar items of household utility and decoration as exists today.

The buyer is always conscious of the possibility of fraud. If he or she pays a stiff price for a presumably age-worn article, there is usually a fairly rigid examination to make sure that it is not the product of a workshop specializing in "antiques made to order."

The New England market has recently been flooded with a sudden avalanche of antique furniture bearing every evidence of authentic age. Prices have run slightly below the current market for the various items. Many buyers have been solemnly assured that the pieces were genuine New England colonial.

The furniture is actually of the period, but usually it's of recent importation from Holland or Belgium, and not of colonial workmanship. Many home builders have knowingly stocked their dwellings with putative museum pieces of this sort, and have calmly palmed them off on friends and visitors as early American. This they have a perfect right to do.

But when a purchaser is assured by a dealer that a piece of furniture or bric-a-brac which he has picked up in a European farm is of the much-prized colonial stamp, he is being victimized. Under such circumstances, the buyer is fully justified in appealing to the law through criminal prosecution and civil action.

Help Save the Infants

One of the greatest concerns of medical science throughout the ages has been reduction in the rate of infant mortality. Modern science has accomplished marvels, but the doctor frequently finds that to save a little life, he must put his entire reliance upon Mother Nature.

Many an infant's life hinges upon the possibility of obtaining its heritage of mother's milk. The mother may have given up her life in giving a new life to the world, or her physical condition may be such as to make her child dependent upon nourishment from another source.

For nearly a score of years, the Directory for Mothers' Milk, organized by Dr. Fritz B. Talbot, has been carrying on a vital work for the care centering in Boston. Quietly, without ostentation, but faithfully and persistently, the workers have carried on through all seasons and all conditions of weather and politics, in war and peace. If a single life had been saved, its work would have been more than justified. But its service has been given gladly to countless infants.

The Directory is in need of funds, and it would be difficult for the charitable to find a worthier depository for their offerings. Mrs. Talbot is president. Mrs. Alvin F. Sortwell is vice-president, and Mrs. A. Wilder Pollard is treasurer. Your contribution may be directed to the Directory, 270 Commonwealth avenue, Boston.

Bans Ear-Cropped Dogs

New England admirers of dogs will be interested in the action of the Schnauzer Club of America in prohibiting the showing of dogs which have been subjected to ear-cropping, born after September 1, 1928, the date when New York's anti-cropping law became effective.

Massachusetts was a year ahead of her sister State in passing an act prohibiting ear-cropping, but to date the Schnauzer Club is the first to take official cognizance of these items of legislation by enforcing their observance on the part of breeders entering exhibits at the various bench shows.

Of far more humanitarian importance is the enactment of restrictions upon the practice of docking dogs' tails. In the case of ear-cropping, the young animal loses only a bit of cartilage. Docking the tail means cutting off the end of the spinal column.

Years ago, Massachusetts passed laws against docking horses. The same consideration should be given to dogs.

Spreading Art of Music

Boston welcomes this week 2000 delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Music Clubs, representing a nationwide membership of 500,000 devotees of music.

The women who direct the activities of the individual clubs have done great things for the advancement of the art of music throughout the nation. To their organization, more than to any other activity, is due the tremendous growth in public taste for the best and finest in music. Every great artist will testify to the fact that real enthusiasm and understanding are to be found in the audiences of localities far removed from the great metropolitan centers. The music clubs have brought about this condition.

Architectural Beauty

Patriotic awe and historic reverence experienced by Bostonians and strangers visiting the shrines of New England's glorious past often blind the onlooker to intrinsic beauty in the spots themselves, apart from their traditional associations.

Purity of design and harmony of proportions to be found in the architecture of Pittsburg Hall, the Old State House, the Old South Church and other sanctified remnants of Colonial days would make these structures priceless even apart from their historical significance.

Perhaps nowhere in the world is there a more perfectly proportioned bit of interior architectural design than the anteroom of the governor's office at the State House.
